The tests are given in November, December, and April at authorized paper-based testing centers worldwide.

TOEIC (the Test of English for International Communication)

The International English Language Testing System (IELTS)

IELTS is recognized as the preferred language requirement for entry to academic courses by all institutions of further and higher education in the United Kingdom, Australia and New Zealand. It has recently been adopted by the majority of prestigious Canadian universities and is currently being promoted as a screening device in the United States of America.

IELTS is jointly managed by the British Council, the University of Cambridge Local Examinations Syndicate (UCLES), and IDP Education, Australia.

In addition to the score for overall language ability, IELTS provides a score for each of the four skills (Listening, Reading, Writing, and Speaking). The scores are reported on a nine-band scale. Total Test Time: 2 hours 45 minutes.

Most universities and colleges in the UK, Australia, New Zealand, Canada and USA accept an overall band score of 6.0 or 6.5 for entry to academic programs of study.

The British Council conducts a testing session twice a month. Special test sessions can be arranged for particular sponsors or institutions.

To apply, you will need:

- One recent photo,
- IELTS test fee: US$100, payable in Baht
- A copy of your ID card or passport

There is no limit to the number of times you can take the IELTS but there must be a gap of 3 months between each test

MODUS OPERANDI

- Racketeers collate data and details of jobseekers from sites and through a network that spans the states.
- Some racketeers send out emails and even put out advertisements in neighborhood papers .
- Their primary target is students who have not got jobs through campus placements, and mostly those from tier 2 and tier 3 towns.
- Their usual targets are students with poor communication skills.
- The racketeers use multiple SIM cards, fake letterheads and visiting cards, and once the monies come into their account, they abscond or switch off their phones.

WHAT CAN BE DONE

- Every time you get a call regarding a job opening, call the company and find out if it is hiring or go to the careers page on the firm's website and verify if the information is true.
- If the job provider conducts only a phone interview beware-most employers prefer a face-to-face interaction.
- Once you get the offer letter, always call up the company and confirm.
- Read the offer letter well-if you find errors, then it may not be genuine.

Thank you
